Parenting too requires some training & practice. The SMART program is a "Two Generation Approach" to parenting, which means it empowers both parent(s) & child. "Parenting SMART" was written to help parents better understand themselves & a child's behavior - with the final focus being our "FORMULA" for decision making. However, this book is not just for parents. Anyone at any age with the ability to read this book will benefit by doing so (you don't have to be a parent). Adults as well as intelligent teenagers can find out by reading this book what their parents perhaps should have done for them & what they can now do for themselves or their children (if they have any). This book was written & is to be used by parents (or the reader) as a preventive measure. You will find quizzes, quotes, a short story & poetry all pertinent to parenting because we want you to enjoy learning the SMART program.
